

02_Customer Insights

Purpose

The Customer Insights page analyzes customer distribution, customer growth, revenue contribution, and purchasing behavior. It helps identify where customers are located, how the customer base has evolved over time, and the effectiveness of customer retention.

Key Business Questions

- Which states have the highest customer concentration?
- Which states contribute the most revenue?
- How has customer acquisition changed over time?
- How many customers make repeat purchases?
- What is the repeat purchase rate?
- Which cities contribute the largest customer base?

Key Insights

- São Paulo has the largest customer base, significantly outperforming all other states.
- São Paulo also generates the highest revenue contribution, highlighting its importance as the primary market.
- Customer acquisition showed strong growth throughout the reporting period, particularly during 2018.
- Repeat customers account for only a small portion of the customer base, resulting in a repeat purchase rate of 3.12%.
- Most customers purchase only once, indicating an opportunity to improve customer retention strategies.
- Major metropolitan cities such as São Paulo and Rio de Janeiro represent the largest customer concentrations.

Business Value

This page helps stakeholders understand customer behavior, regional customer distribution, and retention performance. The insights can support targeted marketing campaigns, customer loyalty initiatives, and market expansion strategies aimed at improving customer lifetime value.